Parties have the opportunity to make informed choices and decisions about how they will parent their children. The Orientation Program last approximately 2 hours. Mediation provides an efficient, economical alternative to litigation for solving disputes involving the children that emerge following a separation and divorce.

Attorneys and children are not included in Mediation. If either party has attended an Orientation within the previous three years, you are not required to attend Orientation. If you live outside Randolph County, please inquire about accommodations for distance. Once both parties attend Orientation, a Mediation session between the parties will be scheduled.
