CORRECTED REPORT FIGURE 3: We display the percent chance of electing a given number of Democrats for a given election in the North Carolina Senate. The column headers show the number of Democrats elected; the row headers show the election considered. We use our primary ensemble that respects municipalities, population, compactness and whole county/traversal criteria. The result observed in the enacted plan is highlighted in purple.