

eCourts

EXPANDING ACCESS TO JUSTICE

June 17, 2021

eWarrants Timeline Update

Our multi-year eCourts project has been progressing with successful statewide rollouts of Tyler Technologies' Guide and Print and Brazos (eCitation replacement) products. The next product to go-live will be eWarrants (NCAWARE replacement), which was scheduled for the week of June 21. Unlike the Guide and Print and Brazos products, which are part of Tyler Technologies' existing product line, eWarrants is a new product being developed for North Carolina. Due to unforeseen development delays, we have made the decision to delay the statewide rollout for eWarrants.

As we have communicated throughout this project, we are committed to rolling out quality vendor products. We will use this delay to further develop and test the eWarrants product as well as provide additional training opportunities. We are working diligently with Tyler Technologies to ensure a quality application, and we will announce more precise timelines soon, but we anticipate the go-live for eWarrants will be in August.

We have added additional eWarrants training opportunities for law enforcement located through the registration form located at Registration for NCAWARE Replacement Training | North Carolina Judicial Branch \(nccourts.org\)

As a reminder, there are training videos and quick reference guides available to you. We highly recommend opening this website in Google Chrome so that the pop up appears for you to enter the User ID and Password.

<http://www2.nccourts.org/eWarrants/index.html>

User ID: toserve

Password: andprotect

For inquiries and registration issues: NCA-R@nccourts.org please include 'LEA NCA-R' in the subject line.

North Carolina Administrative Office of the Courts

Providing services to help North Carolina's unified court system operate more efficiently and effectively, taking into account each courthouse's diverse needs, caseloads, and available resources.

Powered by the Communications Office
